

Please don't change telephone consumer protection act. It is so nice not to be bothered with unwanted phone calls. As it is I get at least five unwanted mailings from banks a week offering to loan me money. One reason there is such a problem with people over extending themselves with credit is it is so easy. I especially dislike the way credit card companys go after young college students.